Glossary of Terms as Defined by the ACCME (<http://www.accme.org>)

The ANCC adapted the Standards for Commercial Support from the ACCME. (<http://www.nursecredentialing.org>)

Commercial Interest

A commercial interest is any entity producing, marketing, re-selling, or distributing health care goods or services consumed by, or used on, patients. The ACCME does not consider providers of clinical service directly to patients to be commercial interests. A commercial interest is not eligible for ACCME accreditation. Commercial interests cannot be accredited providers and cannot be joint providers. Within the context of this definition and limitation, the ACCME considers the following types of organizations to be eligible for accreditation and free to control the content of CME:

- 501-C Non-profit organizations (Note, ACCME screens 501c organizations for eligibility. Those that advocate for commercial interests as a 501c organization are not eligible for accreditation in the ACCME system. They cannot serve in the role of joint provider, but they can be a commercial supporter.)
- Government organizations
- Non-health care related companies
- Liability insurance providers
- Health insurance providers
- Group medical practices
- For-profit hospitals
- For profit rehabilitation centers
- For-profit nursing homes
- Blood banks
- Diagnostic laboratories

ACCME reserves the right to modify this definition and this list of eligible organizations from time to time without notice.

Financial Relationships

Financial relationships are those relationships in which the individual benefits by receiving a salary, royalty, intellectual property rights, consulting fee, honoraria for promotional speakers' bureau, ownership interest (e.g., stocks, stock options or other ownership interest, excluding diversified mutual funds), or other financial benefit. Financial benefits are usually associated with roles such as employment, management position, independent contractor (including contracted research), consulting, speaking and teaching, membership on advisory committees or review panels, board membership, and other activities from which remuneration is received, or expected. ACCME considers relationships of the person involved in the CME activity to include financial relationships of a spouse or partner. The ACCME has not set a minimum dollar amount for relationships to be significant. Inherent in any amount is the incentive to maintain or increase the value of the relationship. With respect to personal financial relationships, contracted research includes research funding where the institution gets the grant and manages the funds and the person is the principal or named investigator on the grant.

Relevant Financial Relationships

ACCME focuses on financial relationships with commercial interests in the 12-month period preceding the time that the individual is being asked to assume a role controlling content of the CME activity. ACCME has not set a minimal dollar amount for relationships to be significant. Inherent in any amount is the incentive to maintain or increase the value of the relationship. The ACCME defines "relevant" financial relationships" as financial relationships in any amount occurring within the past 12 months that create a conflict of interest.

Conflict of Interest

Circumstances create a conflict of interest when an individual has an opportunity to affect CME content about products or services of a commercial interest with which he/she has a financial relationship.

Owner/Employee: Structured Self-Assessment Related to ACCME's Definition of a Commercial Interest *Owners and/or Employees of a Commercial Interest must complete this section.	Yes / No
1. Does your organization, or a part of your organization, produce, market, re-sell, or distribute health care goods or services consumed by or used on patients?
2. Does your organization have a parent company that produces, markets, re-sells, or distributes health care goods or services consumed by, or used on, patients? (A "parent company" is a separate legal entity that owns or fiscally controls an accredited provider or non-accredited organization.)
3. Does your organization have a sister company that produces, markets, re-sells, or distributes health care goods or services consumed by, or used on, patients? (A "sister company" is a separate legal entity which is a subsidiary of the parent company and which maintains a governance structure and activities separate from both the parent company and the accredited provider or nonaccredited joint provider. The sister company does not control or direct, in whole or in part, the operations of the accredited provider or non-accredited organization.)
4. Does your organization advocate for an ACCME-defined commercial interest?
5. Does your organization have a parent company that advocates for an ACCME-defined commercial interest?
6. Does your organization have a sister company that advocates for an ACCME-defined commercial interest?

If you answered yes to any of the questions above, your organization is considered an ACCME-defined commercial interest and you may not be a planner or speaker for SHO's CE program.
